

US Energy Storage Council

Overview

Energy Storage Coalition (USESC) started on October 2, 2025, and brings together more than 30 top organizations, including battery makers like Tesla and LG ES Vertech, project developers such as Eolian, utilities, and contractors. The Coalition advances policies and solutions to ensure grid reliability amidst historic demand for power, lower energy costs for all. Energy storage reduces energy waste, improves grid efficiency, limits costly energy imports, prevents and minimizes power outages, and allows the grid to use more affordable clean energy resources—all of which reduce energy costs for consumers. Announced yesterday (2 October), the US Energy Storage Coalition (USESC) comprises battery and battery energy storage system (BESS) manufacturers, project. Long Duration Energy Storage (LDES) is a technology that stores energy and then dispatches it as power, heat or cooling for extended periods of time, ranging from 8 hours to days, weeks or seasons. It takes various forms, including chemical, thermal, mechanical and electrochemical storage. LDES is. Groups such as the U.
